MCHD EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR PRESENTS AT THE COLLEGE OF INTERNATIONAL SECURITY AFFAIRS IN WASHINGTON, DC
MORGANTOWN, WV – NOVEMBER 10, 2016

Monongalia County Health Department Executive Director, Dr. Lee Smith, was invited to do a presentation on “Conflict, Disasters and Societies in Crisis” on October 27 at the National Defense University, College of International Security Affairs at Fort McNair in Washington, DC.

Many disaster events are mitigated by a combination of civilian and military responders. Dr. Smith presented the civilian point of view during a disaster response to 30 international military doctoral candidates. As an experienced emergency department physician and director of the threat preparedness response in Monongalia County for the health department, Dr. Smith is uniquely qualified to discuss the interaction between civilian and military responders during a disaster.
